Situated in a delightful location on the fringes of this well-regarded village, Minden Cottage is an attractive cottage built of traditional timber-frame construction under a thatched roofline. The property boasts many notable original features with an exposed oak frame and inglenook fireplace, whilst affording a good degree of natural light.

The cottage cleverly fuses these original elements with a contemporary vaulted south-facing extension in 2016, which further enhances the living space and versatility.

The property extends to around 1,600ft² comprising entrance porch with glazed door into the sitting room, which enjoys a triple aspect and inglenook with wood-burning stove and useful storage cupboards.

The dining room French doors to the terrace, leading through to a kitchen, fitted with a range of base and eye level units with preparation worktop, stainless steel sink with drainer, tiled floors and opening to a further area featuring a number of useful storage cupboards. There is access to a ground-floor shower room with tiled floors and walls, heated towel rail and separate WC.

The modern extension provides a wonderful, bright sitting area, with tiled floors and views over the garden, adjoining a large utility room with further storage, tiled floors and preparation worktops with stainless steel sink with drainer.
